

13:18:59 From Josh Mitteldorf to Everyone:

Why are you spending so much time on the past history instead of telling us equally what is the future history of the idea of syntropy?

13:23:25 From Rosanna Schaffer (Fahrusha) to Everyone:

Why only people connections? Connections with nature, the Earth, non physical intelligences?

13:24:04 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Haven't mystics been saying this since forever? For example, Thich Naht Hahn's concept of "interbeing"?

13:27:40 From John Schilter to Everyone:

Everywhere that entropy meets syntropy is the eternal NOW

13:28:26 From jeanberard to Everyone:

And people are "stuck" there?

13:28:29 From Zachary Jones to Everyone:

Could this new accessibility, to the idea of consciousness in all things, be 'just' a new form of religiosity as classic religious formats break down? Or could it come from 'new science' (of the subjective) being now more accessible from something unrelated to classic-religious breakdown?

13:28:58 From Guy Burneko to Everyone:

Take a look at Stuart Kauffman's Reinventing the Sacred

13:29:48 From Guy Burneko to Everyone:

Reinventing

13:30:06 From Joanne Rubin to Everyone:

epiphenomenalism

13:31:59 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Mystics would say that they don't take these things on "faith" ... that they experience these truths. In the present moment. They perceive the truth of interconnectivity through deep observation of the Now, cultivating present moment awareness (beyond thought and away from psychological time).

13:32:48 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

How does the concept of "syntropy" relate to the concept of "synchronicity"?

13:33:03 From Suma to Everyone:

Is there a mathematical representation for an attractor/purpose? If so, what sort of math do you use?

13:34:53 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Thank you

13:35:15 From Zachary Jones to Everyone:

The 'time crystal' model is an interesting mechanism to model nonlinearity, particularly in light of phenomenology. e.g. beyond sequencing, and toward the relationship between emotional senses and links between things

13:36:24 From Vasileios BASIOS to Everyone:

I would vote for the second option ;-) the new science of the subjective and self-reflection. Syntropy "creeps in" modern science via synchronicity, negentropy & retrocausality and potentiality. Sooner or later "we" need to include a teleological approach.

13:36:34 From ariel valerie to Everyone:

so in the "brain" some points are more sensitive to "hearing" and "responding" to purpose, environment, awareness, sensitivity - so if the purpose point is turned on and you are drawn there to follow your purpose - that will also guide/lead the selections/decisions - and/or maybe you end there "at purpose"

regardless of the decisions, you simply get there another way because that is the place the point in the brain is drawn to follow - you simply know this is real and it feels right

13:36:38 From Joanne Rubin to Everyone:

Should we turn on video?

13:40:13 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

All of this reminds me of inhaling and exhaling: the movement in and the movement out. As a metaphor.

13:40:31 From Zachary Jones to Everyone:

Replying to "The 'time crystal' m..."

What is being said now, about emotions going backwards in time, is why I draw light to this model

13:40:36 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Nature is full of these examples - the balance of entropy and syntropy

13:40:38 From Jeff Dunne to Everyone:

Folks are welcome to turn on their videos - thanks!

13:40:45 From Zachary Jones to Everyone:

Replying to "The 'time crystal' m..."

It may not only be forward to backward

13:40:46 From Rosanna Schaffer (Fahrusha) to Everyone:

On a very small level, it seems to me that anxiety is a function of individuals not doing what they are drawn to but rather to doing what they feel they must do or what others want them to do. On a physical level we are all incredibly connected to the Earth and non-physically we are connected to All that Is. The average person does not comprehend that time moves in both directions or everything is happening all at once.

13:41:06 From Zachary Jones to Everyone:

Replying to "The 'time crystal' m..."

But could be about a geometrical aspect of time

13:41:27 From Zachary Jones to Everyone:

Replying to "The 'time crystal' m..."

Linking events in a molecule-like fashion

13:44:26 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

So, maybe it wasn't a "response" maybe it was a measure of intuitive connection.

13:46:50 From Vasileios BASIOS to Everyone:

<https://www.fourmilab.ch/rpkp/>

13:51:24 From Zachary Jones to Everyone:

I've always wondered if data that was observed and forgotten could be changed

13:51:47 From Zachary Jones to Everyone:

Highlight what it meant to forget.

The value or valence of attention

13:52:10 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Mystical traditions have long taught that conventional "psychological time" ... the way we usually experience time as moving from past to future... is just part of the illusion. In this worldview, a close observation of time reveals that time is not as "real" as it first appears to us. Clock time exists, of course, and we do move birth to death, but these teachings suggest that there are deeper truths beyond this understanding of time. It makes sense to me that we can get glimpses of different perspective using the scientific method.

13:52:25 From Rosanna Schaffer (Fahrusha) to Everyone:
Experimenter effect?

13:53:32 From Zachary Jones to Everyone:
Replying to "Mystical traditions ..."

In a comment above I try to draw attention to 'time crystals' as a model for geometrical, semi-linear, time

13:56:59 From Zachary Jones to Everyone:
Replying to "Folks are welcome to..."

My video today would be distracting to others 🙏

I hope others will turn on video though. It helps to humanize

13:59:34 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Shakti - syntropy

13:59:40 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Shiva - entropy

14:00:09 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

The old Vedic texts state this quite clearly.

14:01:07 From Joe VanMyers to Everyone:

When you mentioned emitters and absorbers, I thought of a great meditation within the tradition of "pranic healing" - it's entitled Sharanagathi and contains the following lines: I the Soul recognize the Spiritual Teacher within you.

I the Soul am Super Receptive and Super Conductive on all levels of my being, to the Divine Energies & Blessings passing through You.

14:06:17 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

"Consciousness is the ground of all being." Amrit Goswami

14:08:23 From Laura J to Everyone:

I appreciate the pranic healing mention - I think I've been doing similar, but didn't realize it had a name - thank you Ulisse!

14:08:25 From jeanberard to Everyone:

Is it instinctive or just practiced routine?

14:09:55 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Jean, here is a link: <https://pranichealing.com/about-us>

14:10:28 From Laura J to Everyone:

Jeanberard - if you mean the healing I am doing, it is instinctive, probably including experience I've gained in other modalities

14:11:15 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Here is link to research on pranic healing:

<https://www.pranichealingresearch.com/pranic-healing>

14:12:40 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Does this relate at all to Sheldrake's Morphic Resonance?

14:16:32 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Ariel, totally agree!

14:17:45 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

I wrote my dissertation about this! Connection to nature, connection to community, connection to spirit - these are the foundations for healthy societies.

14:18:13 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Ulisse, beautiful insights.

14:18:41 From Bob Cohen to Everyone:

thank you

14:18:59 From Bob Cohen to Everyone:

must move on to another seminar. many thanks from all of us at the BI

14:19:46 From ariel valerie to Everyone:

everyone needs to spend months in the Gobi - vast networks of uninterrupted communication with birds, nature, earth, hills , water -

14:22:15 From Manori to Everyone:

Not a question, rather a comment. Thank you Ulisse & Jeff for this discussion. Since I first came across the topic at the IAC conference back in 2015 or 2017 and met Antonella and Ulisse, I've been really interested in the application of the theory. In the last few years, Nelson and I've been integrating it to our personal consciousness framework and testing it out in personal applications. We are continued to be impressed with the results and think of Syntropy as a process of creating a bridge between our present and the future we desire. Makes me think of the mechanism of a coil magnetic field. When we divert our intention & chi, which powers the magnet that attracts the future we desire.

14:22:27 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

"Nature is visible spirit, spirit is invisible nature" - a shamanic perspective

14:26:24 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Yes, and many healers will say that they have cultivated the ability to perceive things the rest of us cannot.

14:26:46 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Energy, spirits, chi, whatever

14:28:36 From ariel valerie to Everyone:

indigenous wisdom allows everyone to see - and experience the three worlds, the sacred geometries, the medicine wheel, the counter clockwise spiral where time moves constantly all side by side past present future running continually and you can access all worlds, by jumping from one part of the spiral to the other very well put - thanks Jeff!

14:29:43 From Laura J to Everyone:

14:30:26 From Guy Burneko to Everyone:

Thanks all for another thoughtful togetherring

14:32:41 From Josh Mitteldorf to Everyone:

Ulisse,di you think evolution is pulled forward by syntropy?

14:33:11 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Fusion or Fission!

14:33:19 From ariel valerie to Everyone:

I was taught by one shaman in Nepal they each have two faces or "forms" a wrathful form /face and a "friendly" form/face

14:33:23 From Rosanna Schaffer (Fahrusha) to Everyone:

Thanks so much to Jeff and Ulisse and the whole group for a fascinating meeting.

14:33:46 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

I prefer fusion. Splitting the atom seems more dangerous

14:33:48 From Manori to Everyone:

Replying to "Ulisse,di you think ..."

Very Intriguing thought experiment!

14:34:18 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:

Yes Ariel. That rings true.

14:34:20 From Joanne Rubin to Everyone:
Yes, I think integrating the opposites is a signpost of our endeavors. The dance.

14:34:21 From ariel valerie to Everyone:
maybe like Janus - one face looking forward another face looking backward

14:37:14 From Suma to Everyone:
Thanks Zach! I would love to hear more about it.

14:41:21 From Elizabeth Mackenzie to Everyone:
Thanks Jeff! Very thought provoking!

14:41:33 From ariel valerie to Everyone:
thank you everyone

14:41:35 From Manori to Everyone:
Thank you!

14:41:37 From Joanne Rubin to Everyone:
Great, thank you!!

14:41:37 From Jemma Foster to Everyone:
Thank you!

14:41:43 From alison totten to Everyone:
Thanks Jeff

14:41:48 From Suma to Everyone:
Thanks Ulisse and Jeff!

14:41:53 From David Chen to Everyone:
Thank you!

14:42:05 From Danielle Rita @Crystal Medium IDC to Everyone:
thanks so much!

14:42:46 From alison totten to Everyone:
what is the link for the transcript?